

About the MBA

- Our members adhere to a code of ethics.
- Together, our member companies are involved in every facet of the home building industry.
- Our programs support transitional housing, education and “green” building.

Building the communities that we call home

Formed in 1909 by a group of early Seattle builders who saw a need to promote and protect the viability of the building industry, the Master Builders Association is poised to celebrate its centennial year with the same enduring mission.

The homes and communities built by members of the Master Builders Association are among the most desirable neighborhoods in which to live. Our members continue to take an active role in all facets of home construction in the Puget Sound region. Because of its active approach to the region's housing needs, the Association has grown to become the largest local home builders association in the United States, with more than 4,100 members that employ more than 80,000 workers representing all facets of residential construction.

Our association provides services, programs, legislative representation and membership opportunities unparalleled by any other trade association. The MBA has two charitable foundations: Master Builders Care Foundation, which supports community projects and groups offering transitional housing and shelters, and Master Builders Education Foundation, which provides scholarships and training for the residential construction industry trades. The association, in partnership with King and Snohomish counties also started Built Green™, a residential building program that promotes environmentally friendly building practices and products. The Master Builders Association is the authoritative voice and information source on housing for government, the public, the media and homeowners in King and Snohomish counties.

To find out more about the Master Builders Association, visit the association's website at www.masterbuildersinfo.com.

